

UPM, Andritz and Carbona to develop jointly the technology for biomass gasification and synthetic gas purification

Bio-fuel production consist of gasification and gas transformation to liquid fuel

Gasification technology is required for the production of synthetic gas that will feed the Fischer-Tropsch based second generation biodiesel production facility.

